THE COUNCIL.

The Council, the governing body of the College, consists of twenty-four Members, three* of whom go out in rotation annually in July, but are eligible for re-election by the Fellows of the College. All proceedings of the Court of Examiners, the Board of Examiners in Anatomy and Physiology, the Midwifery and Dental Boards, and the several Committees are reported to the Council for approval and confirmation. The Meetings of the Council are generally held in each month of the year, except in the month of September, and at such other times as the business of the College may require. During the past Collegiate Year there have been fourteen Meetings.

* If in any year one of the three retiring Members be President of the College, he does not go out of office until the succeeding year.

THE COURT OF EXAMINERS.

The Court of Examiners consists of ten Members elected by the Council from the Fellows of the College. The Court superintends the carrying out generally the regulations of the Council relating to the preliminary and professional education of Students, and conducts the Pass Examinations in Surgery and Surgical Anatomy of Candidates for the Diplomas of Fellow and Member of the College. During the past Collegiate year the Court has held three Meetings for the Examinations for the Fellowship, and twenty-seven Meetings for the Pass Examinations for the Membership.

THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS IN ANATOMY AND PHYSIOLOGY.

The Board consists of nine Members annually elected by the Council from the Fellows of the College. The Board conducts the Primary Examinations in Anatomy and Physiology for the Diplomas of Fellow and Member, and has held four Meetings for the Fellowship and thirty-three Meetings for the Membership.

The following is a statement of the number of Candidates who presented themselves for the Fellowship and Membership respectively, with the results of the several Examinations, viz. :—

PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

IN compliance with the decision of the Council, I have, as President, to present to the Council the following Report on the affairs of the College during the past year with a view to its publication for the information of the Fellows and Members.

At the Meeting of the Fellows of the College, held on the 5th of July last, to elect three Members of the Council, in the vacancies occasioned by the retirement in rotation of two Members and by the lamented decease of Sir William Fergusson, Bart., F.R.S., Mr. John E. Erichsen, F.R.S., was re-elected to the Council, and Mr. William S. Savory, F.R.S., and Mr. Timothy Holmes were elected Members of the Council.

On the Court of Examiners Mr. J. Birkett and Mr. Luther Holden were re-elected.

The Board of Examiners in Anatomy and Physiology consists of the same members as last year, except that Mr. W. W. Wagstaffe was elected in the room of Mr. Birkett, who did not offer himself for re-election.

Mr. Flower, F.R.S., and Mr. Parker, F.R.S., were re-elected Joint-Professors of Comparative Anatomy and Physiology.

Mr. T. Spencer Wells was elected Professor of Surgery and Pathology, Mr. Erasmus Wilson, F.R.S., and Mr. B. T. Lowne were re-elected Professor of Dermatology and Lecturer on Anatomy and Physiology respectively.

Since July 1877, seven Members of the College of the required standing have been elected to the Fellowship.

The following is a record of the results of the College Examinations during the year:

At a Meeting of the Council in June 1877, it was resolved, under the following conditions, to act on the power conferred by Section 5 of the Charter of the 15th of Victoria, and, in accordance with the Bye-Laws relating thereto, to admit to the Fellowship without Examination two Members of twenty years' standing :—

1. The chief ground of recommendation for admission to the Fellowship under Section 5 of the Charter of the 15th Victoria shall be distinction in Surgery or in the Sciences relating to Surgery ; but under certain special circumstances, to be stated by the Members of the Council proposing the Candidate, other grounds of recommendation may be entertained.

2. The recommendation of Members for this mode of admission to the Fellowship shall be made on a printed form prepared for the purpose.

3. The forms shall be bound in a book, to be called the Book of Recommendations, each form being duly numbered, and on no account to be removed from the Book, which is to be accessible only to Members of the Council and to the Secretary.

4. No other form of recommendation shall be permitted ; no personal applications from Members to the Council or to the Secretary shall be entertained ; and no direct Candidature shall be sanctioned.

5. On the election of a Member to the Fellowship in this manner, the fact of his admission, with the date, shall be entered in the Recommendation Book and be signed by the President and the Secretary, and the election shall be recorded by a distinctive mode of entry in the List of Fellows.

In January 1878, in pursuance of the above resolution, two members of twenty years' standing, Mr. Oliver Pemberton, of Birmingham, and Sir Joseph Fayrer, K.C.S.I., F.R.S., were nominated, and at the Meeting in the following April were duly elected Fellows.

In addition to the ordinary routine work of the Council, much consideration was given to the details of the Dental Practitioners Bill, which was approved.

The Report of the Committee on certain questions relating to the Diploma in Dental Surgery was adopted in the following form namely :—

The Committee, appointed on the 12th of April, 1877, to take into consideration the several accompanying "communications in reference to the Dental Diploma, to consult with the Dental Board and any other persons they may think proper thereon, and to report to the Council thereon," have this day met and, having conferred with the Dental Board, and with Representatives of the Association of Surgeons practising Dental Surgery and of the Licentiates in Dental Surgery of the College, respectively, and having fully considered the questions raised in the said papers, have unanimously agreed to the following Report to the Council, viz. :—

That the Licence in Dental Surgery of the College should in itself be considered a sufficient qualification to enable its possessor (subject, as regards Lecturers, to the approval by the Dental Board of the usual returns required by the Regulations) to hold either of the following Offices, viz. :—Lecturer on Dental Anatomy, Lecturer on Dental Physiology, Lecturer on Dental Surgery, Lecturer on Dental Mechanics, or Dental Surgeon to a Special Dental Hospital, or the Dental Department of a recognized Hospital; and that, moreover, looking to the special education which is prescribed for the Dental Diploma, and which is not provided for in the curriculum of professional study for a Surgeon, it is essential that in future Certificates should be received only from the holders of these Offices, hereafter appointed, who, in addition to any other qualification they may possess, shall have obtained the Licence in Dental Surgery of the College, excepting the Offices of Lecturer on Dental Anatomy or Dental Physiology, which may be held by any qualified Practitioner or by a Licentiate in Dental Surgery of the College.

The Committee accordingly recommend to the Council that, on and after the 1st of October, 1878, Certificates be not received from any holder of the before-named Offices, with the exceptions named, appointed on or subsequent to that date, unless he be a Licentiate in Dental Surgery of the College.

The Committee have also to represent to the Council that in their opinion the time has now arrived that the Examination for the Dental Diploma should be gradually extended and improved; by which means it is reasonable to expect that the objections, with respect to the incapacity for teaching of the possessors of the qualification, as urged by the Association of Surgeons practising Dental Surgery, will be removed.

And the Committee further recommend that this Report, if approved and adopted by the Council, be referred to the Board of Examiners in Dental Surgery, with a request that the Board will take such steps as they may think proper, to give effect to the recommendations which it contains.

F. LE GROS CLARK, Chairman.

The Council, being of opinion that the Registration of Medical Students should in future be left to the General Medical Council, directed that it be discontinued at the College.

Sir James Paget, Bart., F.R.S., and Mr. John Marshall, F.R.S., were elected the Representatives of the College in the Committee of Reference under the Scheme for a Conjoint Examining Board in England, dated 1st of May 1877.

The subject of the defects in general education of Medical Students having been brought before the Council by the General Medical Council, the Examiners of the College in professional subjects were instructed to report to the Council any cases in which decided ignorance in general education had been displayed by the Candidates, with the name of the Board or Boards before which the Preliminary Examinations had been passed, with a view to such report being transmitted to the Registrar of the General Medical Council, for the information of that Council.

Dr. G. Murray Humphry, F.R.S., was appointed to deliver the Hunterian Oration on the 14th February, 1879.

An application having been read from the London Executive Committee of the Harvey Tercentenary Fund asking for a grant of money towards the expenses of erecting a statue in honour of that distinguished physician and physiologist at Folkestone (his birthplace), the Council voted the sum of one hundred guineas.

The Council devoted much anxious consideration to the important provisions of the Bill introduced by the Lord President of the Council into the House of Lords, entitled "Medical Acts Amendment Bill, 1858," and adopted the following Report from the President and Vice-Presidents:—

I. Memorandum by the President and Vice-Presidents.

As the Medical Act (1858) Amendment Bill, which His Grace the Lord President on the part of Her Majesty's Government has recently introduced in the House of Lords, is about to be brought under consideration of the Council of the College, the President and Vice-Presidents, preparing to address to the Council their observations on those provisions of the Bill which seem to them of importance to the College, have associated with themselves in consultation on the Bill those two Members of the Council who are also Members of the General Medical Council, and they now, in result of this consultation, submit to the Council of the College as follows.

The Bill is of thirty-four clauses, with schedules annexed. Its leading intentions fall practically under five heads: and in considering them it may be convenient to begin with those which seem least open to objection.

1. First, then, certain clauses of the Bill aim at giving effect to certain Recommendations of the General Medical Council for amending the Medical Act of 1858 in various of its secondary provisions. Such are clauses 4, 9, 10, 12, which deal with the details of registration,—clauses 5 to 8 and clause 30, which propose to give more liberal treatment in this country to foreign and colonial practitioners,—clause 11, which relates to erasures from and restorations to the Medical Register, and clause 13 which designs a special committee for this branch of business,—clauses 22 and 28, which intend a better penal protection of recognised professional titles,—and clause 29, which is to improve the law relating to lunacy-certificates. It is believed by the President and Vice-Presidents that all these clauses, subject here and there to some little amendment of detail, are such as the Council of the College would wish to become law; and as the General Medical Council, when assembled next week, will no doubt revise them in detail with reference to their own recommendations which gave rise to them, the President and Vice-Presidents think it unlikely that the Council of this College would at present care to discuss them at length. And with those clauses may, for the present purpose, be classed the “preliminary” and several of the otherwise unmentioned “miscellaneous” clauses of the Bill.

2. Secondly, the Bill contains provisions, partly in paragraph 4 of clause 14, and partly in the second half of clause 20, with regard to the Examination and Qualification of Women. These provisions, it is believed, are meant only to secure more effectually the object which was unsuccessfully aimed at by Russell Gurney's Act: the object, namely, of enabling any Medical Authority which may so wish to grant its qualifications to Women. Provided that the intention of the Bill in relation to the Medical Authorities be permissive and in no respect compulsory (a point which will have to be carefully ascertained) the President and Vice-Presidents see no reason why the College should object to the amended permission. Adverting, however, to resolutions which the Council has already passed on this subject, the President and Vice-Presidents apprehend that no amended permissive law would be such that the College would choose to act under it, unless it clearly allowed discretion to the Medical Authorities to distinguish in their examination-rules and diplomas between the almost necessarily different cases of men and women candidates. Some such distinction between the two sexes is evidently contemplated in the Bill, and indeed has express provision made for it in the sentence which is lettered “b” in paragraph 4 of clause 14; but it is to be noticed that in this sentence, under what seems a curious misapprehension of the rights and responsibilities of the case, a personal option is allowed to the Candidate instead of a regulative discretion being vested in the Authority.

3. Thirdly, the Bill in clause 23 deals with the object which Sir John Lubbock's Bill, introduced in the House of Commons some weeks previously, and then in substance approved by the Council of the College, was already separately dealing with: the object, namely, of providing a duly-protected legal status for qualified Dentists in the United Kingdom. The Lord President's clause 23 differs from Sir John Lubbock's Bill as showing a far stronger spirit of centralization. It proposes that the General Medical Council, subject to approvals from the Privy Council, shall be the governing Authority for the profession of Dentistry: empowered to control the education, examination, licensing, registration, and dis-registration of Dentists, and to act in these matters not merely by way of superintendence, but as having sole responsibility for initiation. The President and Vice-Presidents have no reason to believe that the Medical Council has sought to be invested with this large authority, nor can they say whether that body would even at request consent to be charged with it; but the fact which they have to bring under notice of the Council is, that, if the proposed clause 23 became law, no valid action of this College under its Charter of 1859 could thenceforth be taken, until the General Medical Council and the Privy Council had seen fit to approve the action in some "scheme" proposed for the purpose, nor except so far as those approvals might extend, and subject to such particular directions as they might impose. The President and Vice-Presidents are not aware of any reason of public concern for which this College should be expected to acquiesce in the above proposal; and they therefore, as at present informed, recommend the Council to withhold assent from it.

4. Fourthly, the Bill in clause 24 proposes, as a new national institution, that the General Medical Council, subject to approvals of the Privy Council, shall provide for the examination, licensing, registration, and disregistration of Midwives throughout the United Kingdom, with apparently some censorship over the registered midwives, and that the designation of "registered midwife" should be protected from unauthorised use.

The President and Vice-Presidents are able to state that hitherto the General Medical Council has not expressed any disposition to accept the very large administrative responsibility which clause 24 would evidently impose on it; and in view of the fact that this College contributes to the constitution of the Medical Council, the President and Vice-Presidents cannot but express their own very grave doubt whether that Council, with its present organization, and with the limits which the organization necessarily imposes on its capacity for the transaction of business, could rightly be charged, for a collateral purpose, with such duties of construction and administration as the proposal, in its present form, would involve. And even apart from this consideration, the President and Vice-Presidents can hardly imagine it to be for the rightly understood interests of the proposed new institution, that so much of the responsibility for it should be central: that a minor skilled industry, which in general must be mainly local both in its ambitions and in its credentials, should have to bear comparatively heavy costs for registration by a central office, and for dependence on the elaborate acts of an expensive central Council.

The President and Vice-Presidents cordially agree in the opinion which was last year expressed by the General Medical Council in favour of providing by legislation for the following two objects:—"first, that means, under legal sanction, should be provided for giving credentials of qualification to competent midwives; and secondly, that the lives of women in labour should, so far as practicable, be protected from the incompetent." But, having regard to the nature of the subject-matter, the President and Vice-Presidents believe that a law which would compass those objects must throw the main stress of the responsibility on local administrative Authorities, with local professional assistance; and that the General Medical Council can hardly be utilized with advantage in the matter for more than perhaps some general rules with regard to the proper conditions of education and examination for Midwives.

5. Fifthly, and as of chief importance, the President and Vice-Presidents have to beg the particular attention of the Council to clauses 3 and 14 of the Lord President's Bill. The principle of clause 3 is briefly described as "necessity of double qualification for registration:" and the purpose of clause 14, as "examination-rules for securing uniformity of examinations for qualification." The Council will observe that, if clause 3 became law, the now registrable qualifications of the College—its Membership, its Fellowship, and its Midwifery-License—would no longer of themselves be registrable; that the Membership and the Fellowship, as purely surgical qualifications at law, would have to be accompanied by a medical qualification from some authority entitled to grant the same; and that the Midwifery Qualification would apparently not be registrable at all, unless perhaps in certain contingencies (under paragraph 7 of clause 9 of the Bill) as an addition to titles otherwise sufficient for registration. The Council will further observe that, if clause 14 became law, the College would thenceforth not have authority to confer even a valid surgical diploma, except in subordination to such examination-rules as the General Medical Council, with sanction of the Privy Council, might have laid down.

In commenting on these clauses, by which it is proposed so largely to disfranchise the College in favour of a central supremacy, the President and Vice-Presidents take as their principle, that the magnitude of the sacrifice which is demanded of the College ought to be estimated as a question of proportion: with reference, namely, to the general scope and promise of the Bill in its bearing on public interests, and especially as regards the degree in which the Bill may be expected to secure, in the national system of licensing for the medical profession, certain necessary and substantially final reforms. In this point of view, the President and Vice-Presidents have to submit to the Council that, in their opinion, the Bill does not offer any such promise of public advantage as to claim that the College should on that account make any considerable surrender of independence: and they must even observe that, in their opinion, the reforms which are most wanted in the licensing-system of the United Kingdom would perhaps be rather impeded than promoted by the passing of the Bill. For the Bill, if it became law, could hardly fail to be deemed an expression of indifference on the part of the Legislature to that which the largest and weightiest consent of skilled authority has long recognized to be the chief evil of the present system: the evil of nineteen uncombined and (in principle) competing Examination-Boards in the three divisions of the United Kingdom, with the privilege allowed to each separate Authority to grant registrable titles which shall be valid throughout the British empire.

The President and Vice-Presidents need not remind the Council of the long-continued strenuous endeavours which the Authorities of this division of the United Kingdom have made, to terminate, so far as their own separate action is concerned, the scandal of that sort of independence. It is of public knowledge that those endeavours, after surmounting great difficulties, resulted some months ago in the obtaining of the sanction of the General Medical Council to a basis on which the seven English Authorities have agreed to co-operate as a single Examining Board for granting minimum qualifications in this division of the United Kingdom. The Royal College of Surgeons of England, entering into that combination with a professional prestige certainly not inferior to that of any other Authority, and with larger pecuniary interests at stake than all the other Authorities together, has abundantly shown that, for an adequate public purpose, it is ready to sacrifice nearly all its freedom of separate action, and to place, as regards its interests, a practically unreserved confidence in the justice and public spirit of the kindred Authorities with which it would act. The President and Vice-Presidents therefore feel sure that, if Her Majesty's present Government had seen fit (as renewing Lord Ripon's proposal of eight years ago) to propose a compulsory establishment of Joint Examining-Boards for the respective divisions of the United Kingdom, this College would, for so great a public interest, have declared itself ready to accept, with regard to its minimum qualification, any such subordination to the General Medical Council, and any such sacrifice of its separate licensing-power, as might be really necessary for the success of that intention. But the case, as it stands with the present Government Bill, has unfortunately a quite different aspect; and the President and Vice-Presidents feel with much regret that they can only recommend to the Council to dissent from clauses 3 and 14 of the Bill. They, moreover, cannot refrain from expressing to the Council how serious the probability appears to them, that, if this Bill, by becoming law, virtually gives a new Parliamentary sanction to the evils of the present system, the promoters of the English Joint Board will have to recognise that their Board can have no reasonable chance of success in the one division of the United Kingdom, while uncombined Authorities in other divisions of the Kingdom may compete against them for English candidates.

By direction of the President,

EDWARD TRIMMER,

April 1st, 1878.

II. Resolutions adopted by the Council of the Royal College of Surgeons at its Meeting of April 1st, 1878.

1. That the Report of the President and Vice-Presidents on the Government Bill for amending the Medical Acts be approved, and be entered on the Minutes of the Council.

2. That the consolidation of all present Licensing Authorities into Conjoint Boards, one for each division of the Kingdom, recommended for many years past by the General Medical Council, and accepted by the House of Lords in 1870 as a principle for compulsory legislation, is an object to which the College attaches the highest importance, and for which it has long been exerting itself; that already, by taking part in the settlement of a voluntary Joint Scheme for England (approved by the General Medical Council), the College has shown its willingness to make all needful sacrifices for that object; that, in the opinion of the Council, the object would not only remain unpromoted, but even the progress already made towards it in this division of the United Kingdom would be seriously endangered, and in all probability be lost, if the Legislature were now to affirm that it leaves the principle of Joint Examinations for the option of the individual Medical Authorities.

That therefore, as regards clauses 3 and 14 of the present Bill, the College hopes it may not be called upon to surrender any of the independence which it now has in respect of its diploma and examination-rules, unless such surrender be in contribution to a general system, which (so far as minimum qualifications are concerned) shall make Joint-Examinations compulsory for all the divisions of the United Kingdom.

That further, as regards clause 14, the College, while recognising the necessity of providing for supervision by the General Medical Council in all the essentials of medical education and examination, would not think it desirable to give to that body the initiative in framing examination-rules, either for the respective Joint Boards, should such exist, or, should such not exist, for the separate Authorities.

3. That, as regards clause 23, the College recommends that the clause be withdrawn in favour of the less centralized plan of Sir John Lubbock's Bill.

4. That, as regards clause 24, the College recommends the withdrawal of the clause, with a view to the subject being dealt with separately from any question of amending the Medical Acts, and mainly on a system of local, rather than of central, responsibility.

5. That, as regards the granting of qualifications to Women for entering upon the Medical Profession, the College approves the giving to the Authorities amended powers for optional exercise in this matter, but recommends that the powers be so given as to allow the Authorities reasonable discretion to distinguish in their examination-rules and diplomas between men and women : provided that the examinations of the two sexes be in the main equivalent for like certificates or diplomas.

6. That, as regards the remaining provisions of the Bill, the College gives general approval, but authorizes the President to recommend such minor amendments as he and the Vice-Presidents may find desirable.

7. That the President and Vice-Presidents be instructed to request an interview with the Lord President in order to set before him the views of the Council on his Bill; and that it be an instruction to them, in any such interview, particularly to explain to His Grace the regret which the Council feels, on public grounds, that the Bill does not contain any provision for enforcing Joint Examinations in each division of the United Kingdom.

EDWARD TRIMMER,

Secretary.

Since the Bill was introduced into the House of Lords it has been considerably amended. It is now proposed that Conjoint Schemes should be made compulsory, and that the certificate of passing the examinations of the Boards under those Schemes should entitle to registration without the necessity of obtaining Diplomas from the Medical Authorities.

The Bill as amended has passed the House of Lords, and is about to be introduced into the House of Commons.

The thanks of the Council were given to Dr. Arthur Farre, F.R.S., for his donation of valuable pathological and other preparations to the Museum.

The Conservator was authorized to select specimens for the Paris International Exhibition.

The Council directed that in future the Museum be opened for inspection of Visitors at 11 A.M., instead of at Noon.

Mr. Charles Hawkins presented to the Library valuable autograph notes of the Lectures delivered by the late Sir Benjamin Brodie, Bart., when Professor of Anatomy at the College.

Mr. Erasmus Wilson, F.R.S., presented an autograph letter of John Hunter.

Since the Report of my predecessor in office, there have been added to the Library, either by donation or purchase, about 280 new works and pamphlets, besides the continuations of works and periodicals already in the Library.

At the request of Dr. Weir Mitchell, of Philadelphia, Mrs. Merritt was allowed to make a copy of the portrait of John Hunter by Sir Joshua Reynolds.

The several Departments of the College have been maintained in an efficient condition.

THE MUSEUM.

THE Hunterian Collection, which forms the basis, and still a large proportion, of the contents of the present Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, was originally arranged in a building which its Founder, John Hunter, erected for it in 1784, behind his house in Leicester Square.

John Hunter died October 16th, 1793, aged 65. By his will he directed the Museum to be offered in the first instance to the British Government, on such terms as might be considered reasonable, and in case of refusal, to be sold in one lot, either to some foreign state, or as his executors might think proper.

In the year 1799 Parliament voted the sum of £15,000 for the Museum, and an offer of it being made to the Corporation of Surgeons, it was accepted on the terms proposed by Government*.

In 1806 the sum of £15,000 was voted by Parliament in aid of the erection of an edifice for the display and arrangement of the Hunterian Collection; a second grant of £12,500 was subsequently voted, and upwards of £21,000 having been supplied from the funds of the College, the building was completed in Lincoln's-Inn-Fields, in which the Museum was opened for the inspection of visitors in the year 1813.

* The following are the Terms and Conditions on which the Hunterian Collection, purchased by Parliament, was delivered to the late Corporation of Surgeons; which Corporation having become dissolved, the Members thereof were re-incorporated by Charter, dated the 22nd day of March, 1800, under the Title of The Royal College of Surgeons in London:—

1st. The Collection shall be open Four Hours in the Forenoon of two days every week for Inspection and Consultation of the Fellows of the College of Physicians, the Members of the Company of Surgeons and Persons properly introduced by them; a Catalogue of the Preparations, and a proper Person to explain it, being at those times always in the Room.

2nd. That one Course of Lectures, not less than twenty-four in number, on Comparative Anatomy and other subjects, illustrated by the Preparations, shall be given every year by some Member of the Company.

3rd. That the Preparations shall be kept in a state of Preservation, and the Collection in as perfect a state as possible, at the Expense of the Corporation of Surgeons, subject to the annual Inspection and Superintendence of the Trustees.

4th. That there shall be a Board of Trustees, to consist of sixteen (increased to seventeen by the Lords of the Treasury in 1856) Members, by virtue of their Public Offices, and of fourteen others, to be appointed, in the first instance, by the Lords of the Treasury, and afterwards to be elected, as Vacancies may happen, by a Majority of the remaining Trustees.

5th. That the Museum shall always be open for the Inspection of all or any of the said Trustees, who are to take care that the Corporation of Surgeons perform their Engagements respecting the said Collection. That a day be appointed for the annual Inspection of the Museum, by the Trustees acting collectively as a Board; and that they are also to have quarterly Meetings, for the transacting of any Business relative to the Museum, and for the filling up of such Vacancies as may happen in the number of the Trustees; and that the Corporation of Surgeons shall engage some Person to officiate as Secretary to the Board upon such occasions, and to issue previous Notice to the Members, in which he is to state particularly whether any Vacancies are to be filled up by new Elections.

In consequence of the large number of additions, this building became too small for the adequate display and arrangement of its contents; and more space being at the same time required for the rapidly increasing Library, the greater portion of the present building was erected, wholly at the expense of the College, in 1835, at a cost of about £40,000, and the Hunterian and Collegiate Collections were re-arranged in what are now termed the Western and Middle Museums, which were opened for the inspection of visitors in 1836.

Further enlargement of the building having become necessary by the continued increase of the Collection, the College, in 1847, purchased the extensive premises of Mr. Alderman Copeland, in Portugal Street, for the sum of £16,000, and in 1852 proceeded to the erection of the Eastern Museum, at the expense of £25,000, Parliament granting £15,000 in aid thereof. The re-arrangement of the specimens was completed, and the additional portion of the building opened to visitors in 1855.

The Hunterian Collection was estimated to consist of 13,682 specimens, distributed under the following heads:—

Physiological Department, or Normal Structures.

Physiological preparations in spirit .....	3745
Osteological preparations .....	965
Dry do. ....	617
Zoological do. ....	1968
Fossils:—
Vertebrate .....	1215
Invertebrate .....	2202
Plants .....	292

Pathological Department, or Abnormal Structures.

Preparations in spirit .....	1084
Dry preparations (including bones) .....	625
Calculi and concretions .....	536
Monsters and Malformations .....	218
Microscopic preparations .....	215

Of the additions by which the size and value of the Collection have been so materially increased since it came into the possession of the College, very many have been presented by Fellows and Members of the College, and other persons interested in scientific pursuits. Among the largest contributions from this source have been the Collection, consisting of 847 specimens, presented in 1811 by Sir William Blizard, and a valuable series of Pathological specimens presented in 1851 by Sir Stephen L. Hammick. At the same time the Council of the College have availed themselves of various opportunities as they have occurred to purchase specimens of interest, especially at the dispersion of private anatomical and pathological museums, as that of Sir A. Lever in 1806, of Mr. Joshua Brookes in 1828, of Mr. Heaviside in 1829, Mr. Langstaff in 1835, Mr. South in the same year, Mr. Howship and Mr. Taunton in 1841, Mr. Liston in 1842, Mr. Walker in 1843, and, deserving of especial mention on account of the great number and value of the specimens acquired, that of Sir Astley Cooper in 1843.

The Histological Collection, of which the 215 Hunterian specimens (prepared by Hewson) constitute the nucleus, was chiefly formed by the late Professor Quekett, with considerable additions by purchase from Dr. Tweedy, J. Todd, Mr. Nasmyth, and Professor Lenhossek. It now contains upwards of 12,000 specimens, all arranged and catalogued so as to be readily available for reference.

The superintendence of the Museum is confided by the Council of the College to a Committee of its Members, which Committee has held five meetings during the past year.

A summary of the progress made in the preservation, arrangement and augmentation of the Collection will be found in the following Report.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CONSERVATOR TO THE MUSEUM COMMITTEE.

(Presented July 2nd, 1878.)

In the last Report it was mentioned that Dr. Goodhart was about to retire from the office of Pathological Assistant, which he had held for six years. He was succeeded in July last by Mr. Alban Doran, who had previously been Anatomical Assistant. For the latter post thus vacated Mr. George Arthur Wright was selected. The offer of a position at Guy's Hospital caused him to retire from it after nine months' tenure of office. During this time he was chiefly engaged in making preparations for the Board of Examiners, and showed himself to be a remarkably skilful dissector, and to possess qualifications which would have been of great value to the Museum if the prospects of surgical practice had not proved more attractive to him.

Mr. Wright was succeeded in March last by Mr. Walter Pye, Lecturer on Physiology and now one of the Assistant Surgeons to Saint Mary's Hospital. His time has hitherto been chiefly occupied by the Board of Examiners, but he has commenced a revision of the Catalogue of Surgical Instruments. He has also made use of the Histological Collection, which is specially under his charge, in giving free demonstrations on Thursdays to a limited number of Students, who have expressed a wish to avail themselves of his instruction.

The Museum has sustained a loss, not unexpected it is true, but nevertheless deeply felt, in the death, on the 30th of October last, of Mr. James Flower, the articulator, whose work for the benefit of the Collection and improvements in the art of skeleton-making generally, have been frequently noticed in previous Reports.

Mr. Flower was born in London on the 29th of February, 1800. At the age of fifteen he enlisted in the 18th Hussars, in which regiment he had two elder brothers. He was just too late to take part in the battle of Waterloo, but joined the regiment at St. Omer, and remained with it two years in France as part of the British Army of Occupation. He was afterwards stationed in Ireland, but in 1821, peace being assured, the regiment was disbanded, and he returned to civil life. Having a considerable taste for natural history, he came under the notice of Messrs. Vigors, Yarrell, Bell, and others, who were connected with the foundation of the Zoological Society, and was for several years employed in the Museum which the Society maintained in its early days in Bruton Street. He afterwards began to articulate skeletons on his own account for private persons and various public institutions; and few are the museums of comparative anatomy which do not possess evidences of his skill in the form of Fishes' heads, mounted on the system taught him by Professor Owen. His connexion with the College commenced in August 1836, and from that time onwards his services were devoted to this institution whenever required, and since 1861 almost exclusively. Shortly before the latter date, the King of Siam, desirous of obtaining instruction in anatomy, and being prevented by the prejudices of his caste from touching any part of the human body, sent to England for a model of the skeleton. James Flower undertook to construct it. The likeness of each individual bone was carefully carved in wood, and when they were articulated together, they presented an appearance, which, it is said, was difficult to distinguish from that of a real skeleton. This skill in carving and modelling was often of assistance in restoring lost or perishable parts, as may be seen in many of the skeletons in the Museum.

Mr. Flower possessed every requisite for his calling. He was an admirable mechanic, and thoroughly at home in all kinds of metal-work as well as carpentry. In the arrangements for articulating and supporting the huge and unmanageable skeletons of the whales in the Museum he displayed considerable engineering talent; and in the preparation of the bones of such minute creatures as bats and mice he showed a neatness and delicacy of touch, and clearness of eyesight, which did not fail him even in his later years. Being extremely fond of watching the form and manners of living animals, and having an artistic eye, he took great pains with the attitudes of his skeletons, and endeavoured to preserve as closely as possible the natural relations of the different parts. He was not only always interested in and happy at his work, but, what is perhaps more rare, ready at all times to take hints and suggestions from others, and to the very last bent on making improvements; indeed he seemed never satisfied unless each skeleton he mounted had something in it which showed an advance in method over the one he had done just before. His simplicity and straightforwardness of character, pleasant manners, and punctual and methodical habits (partly due, no doubt, to his early military training) caused him to be universally respected and trusted; and his vigorous health enabled him at the age of seventy-seven to work as regularly, and with as much dexterity and interest, as at any period of his life. He was within a few days of this age when he had the satisfaction of receiving in the Museum the personal congratulations of the Prince of Wales on the manner in which he had articulated the skeleton of a tiger, shot by His Royal Highness during his Indian tour. Indeed some of his best work was his last, and, but for the fatal disease, cancer, with which he was attacked last year, it seemed probable that his life and usefulness might have been continued for many years to come.

With the true spirit of one who loves his work for its own sake, from the moment he began to realize that the time was approaching when he would no longer be able to carry it on, his chief thought was to instruct a successor in all the knowledge which he had himself acquired by long and slow experience and repeated trials; and he showed his interest in the College by giving to it, shortly before his death, the whole of a valuable collection of implements, connected with every branch of the articulator's art, upon the efficiency and good order of which he greatly prided himself.

His successor is Mr. John Marle, who for twelve years has been one of the attendants in the Museum.

In order to render the Collection more accessible to visitors, the Council, on the recommendation of the Museum Committee, have sanctioned the opening of the Museum on the first four days of the week at eleven instead of twelve o'clock as hitherto. By the terms of the Hunterian Trust, the Museum is to be opened (to certain privileged persons only) for eight hours during each week. It is now open to almost any one who applies for admission for twenty-four hours in summer and twenty hours in winter, during the week. Friday and Saturday mornings are reserved for students of special departments, artists, ladies, and also for sweeping the floors and galleries. On Saturday afternoons visits are not unfrequently made by various bodies of working men, or science classes, always under my own personal supervision, and generally with an explanatory lecture of some portion of the contents of the Museum.

The number of visitors to the Museum continues steadily to increase, as the following figures from the Hall-book for the last ten years show. The book was signed in 1868	by	4224	persons.

1869	„	4910	„
1870	„	5750	„
1871	„	5616	„
1872	„	5624	„
1873	„	6270	„
1874	„	6208	„
1875	„	6493	„
1876	„	7936	„
1877	„	8151	„

Among those who have paid visits to the Museum during the past twelve months have been their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales, and Prince Waldemar of Denmark, on July 7th; His Royal and Imperial Highness the Crown Prince of Austro-Hungary on January 8th; and His Excellency the Chinese Minister on June 8th.

In response to an invitation from the Commissioners of the "Exposition internationale des Sciences Anthropologiques," now being held in Paris in connexion with the Universal Exhibition, the Council authorized me to select specimens from the Museum, which, by their presence in Paris, might further the objects for which the Exhibition is brought together. As the osseous remains of the extinct race of Tasmanians are naturally of great interest to anthropologists, and as they are rare in continental museums, our series (the most complete in existence), consisting of two skeletons and thirteen crania, seemed appropriate for the purpose. These, and eighteen other skulls of kindred races, chiefly from the Melanesian islands, were accordingly forwarded, together with specimens of the diagrams used in illustration of the last course of lectures, and photographs of the interior of the Museum, so that the College is well represented at the Exhibition.

The additions to the different departments of the Museum have been fully equal to the average, as will be seen by the accompanying list; and the old specimens have been kept in good order, 343 spirit preparations having been remounted during the year; three human skeletons, which had long been in the Museum, have been articulated, many others repaired, and a considerable number of crania mounted on stands.

THE LIBRARY.

THE formation of a regular Library may be said to have commenced in the year 1801, at which time and in succeeding years presentations and bequests of books, often in considerable numbers, were made to the College—the principal donors being Dr. Baillie, Sir Everard Home, Sir Charles Blicke, the widow of Mr. Sharp, Sir Ludford Harvey, Dr. Fleming, Mr. Cotton, and Mr. Long. The Court of Assistants also directed from time to time the expenditure of small sums of money for the purchase of books, and eventually voted a sum of £100 per annum for this purpose. Sir Charles Blicke, in the year 1816, invested the sum of £300, the proceeds of which sum were to be devoted to the same object. Some of the purchases thus made were considerable, as in the cases of the Libraries of Mr. Pitt, Mr. St. Andre, and Sir Anthony Carlisle, and books of importance were added at the recommendation of the Conservator of the Museum and others. In this way a Library of considerable value was gradually accumulated, but it was only accessible to a limited number of persons. In 1827 active steps were taken to render it more generally useful, and with this object catalogues and extensive lists of desirable acquisitions were ordered to be prepared. Large sums of money were also expended during this and the ensuing two years, amounting in the aggregate to nearly £6000. A Librarian was appointed, and in 1828 the Library, then containing 10,500 volumes, was thrown open to members of the College, and all other persons engaged in the pursuit of natural science were freely admitted. This large collection, thus opened, offered great facilities to the studious. By means of extensive additions, the collection was well nigh complete in works on Medicine and Surgery, both domestic and foreign, whilst it was also very rich in publications relating to the accessory sciences. The transactions of Academics and Societies, and the collection of periodical publications in general, owing to their completeness, and the difficulty with which access can be obtained to this class of literature elsewhere than in large libraries, formed a valuable feature. The maintenance of the Library from that time to the present has involved a very considerable expenditure of the funds of the College. It has been the object of those to whose care it has been confided to ensure the completeness and excellence of the collection, and great facilities of reference have been provided by the preparation of additional catalogues and indexes of subjects. During the last year there have been added to the Library 478 volumes, including 128 new works and 216 tracts, pamphlets, essays, reports, and theses. The entire collection now consists of 36,611 volumes, comprising 14,542 works, and 38,269 tracts, pamphlets, essays, reports, and theses.
